HAZEL GREEN ACADEMY opened Tuesday under very favorable circumstances considering the fact that this year the free school at this place has a large enrollment of young students who make up the primary department at the academy. There were 68 enrolled, and counting the pupils in public school who would have been there had not the public school been taught by such competent instructors as Misses Falay Long and Nancy Mapel it is beyond any fall term matriculation that has come under our observation. The academy has been handicapped this year more than usual from the fact that they had trouble in securing a principal to take the place of Prof. Derthick, who was placed in charge of the mission work at Livingston, Tenn. But from now on we predict pronounced success for the school and hope it may have the liberal patronage it is entitled to.

The state labor commissioner is again making his rounds investigating the condition of children of school age and says the state law against non-attendance at school must be rigidly enforced. The state and school district pays for the schooling of every child of school age and if the parents do not give the child a chance to improve it, the parents will be punished.

ADAMS, DICTATOR.

Boss of Local Republican Machine.

WOLFE COUNTY VICTIMS.

[Contributed.]

That Judge Adams is the Dictator of the Republican machine in this district is beyond question. That he is using that machine in the sole interest of Jim Adams is axiomatic. In Breathitt county it is the current talk that he dictated the county Republican ticket. In Lee county it is alleged that he dictated the county Republican ticket. In Estill county it is said that he holds the local machine in the hollow of his hand. He nominated himself and "Me Too" Kash in a committee room in Beattyville.

It is a significant fact that on each of these county tickets he has put as many men with plenty of Cold Cash as was possible. He has not permitted a county in the district to put out a Republican ticket that was not measured by the Dollars that it could put up.

Wolfe county has a safe Democratic majority of at least 350. The Democrats of that county have nominated a ticket that is model in every respect. Judge W. B. Duff, the nominee for county judge, is a man against whom no whisper of evil can truthfully be uttered. He is a lawyer, a man of energy and ability, honest, sober and a good financier, and the people of that county know that it was his efforts as a member of the fiscal court that gave them the lowest taxes they ever knew. The whole ticket is equally as good and capable, and the Democrats are united and harmonious.

But the Dictator could not be satisfied to see that splendid body of men—who would give the people of that county protection and low taxes—elected without opposition. It is currently reported that the two recent races that Adams made considerably depleted his not too plethoric pocket-book, and that he is hard put to finance his campaign; hence some of his Wolfe county sheep must be led to the shearing. So, on Saturday last, B. D. Rose, who, he it is remembered, has a big bank balance as his sole qualification for the place, was nominated by the machine for county judge; Isaac Miller, who likewise has a "wad," was nominated for sheriff; James Brown, who, it is said, has several hundred dollars in real cash that he is willing to squander, was nominated for assessor; George L. Atkey for circuit clerk; Matt Brewer for jailer.

Not a man in Wolfe county, Republican or Democrat, believes that there is a ghost of a chance for either of them to be elected, but the Dictator's chest nuts are in an exceedingly hot fire and he must have cats'paws in his attempt to pull them out, so these sacrificial lambs (together with their check books) are to be led up to the altar of Adams' selfish ambition.

As a party boss the Dictator drives hard. There is no limit to his political greed and lust for power. Here in Breathitt the Republicans had a chance to elect a county ticket if the honest yeomanry of the party had been given a voice in the selection of the ticket. But the Dictator said, "Nay, nay, Pauline!" Across his troubled sleep came dreams of David, whose surname is Redwine, and his rest was disturbed. So he forthwith arose and journeyed to Jackson, which is the land of Breathitt, and summoned his cohorts together and thusly he spake unto them: "Down in that region which is Frozen lives one Julius Caesar, of whom it is rumored he bath much good Hard Coin. Also he is the brother-in-law to the Author of my Troubled Dreams. Nominate him for county judge and that will keep the wicked Democrats from nominating Redwine to defeat me. Bring pressure to bear, great pressure on Judge Cardwell, and keep him from asking for the nomination, for if he asks he will surely receive, for so, the people of our party throughout the county are for him and we can't defeat him for the nomination if he asks for it. Bring tremendous pressure to bear on him and keep him from running."

And it came to pass.
Judge Cardwell did not let his name go before the convention and Julius Caesar Herst, he of the Plethoric Pulse, was nominated, together with others whom it was believed could be made to Cough Up at the proper time.

The Dictator triumphed over the people of his party. He put aside their wishes as though it were less majestic to have ideas of their own. Body and breeches he owns the whole machine. The local bosses are moved about by him as pawns upon the political chess board. If his greed and lust for power is great, his selfishness is greater. For what he hoped would benefit him personally he deliberately sacrificed every hope his party had of success in this county. It is like burning up the solar system to cook a dinner.

Are the plain, honest, laboring Republicans going to stand for such autocratic bossism? Will they be driven like sheep by one who values them only for their votes? Will they meekly bear the ruthless disregard of their rights as citizens and members of their party?

We think not.

The reign of the Dictator is almost over. The handwriting has appeared on the wall. When the people realize the utter selfishness of this man they will be almost unanimous in their verdict that he ought not to be elected to the Circuit court bench. His methods might be approved in some of the northern cities where bossism is rampant and where the gangs are so strong that it is useless for the plain people to struggle against it, but here in the mountains of Old Kentucky, where one man is as good as another so long as he conducts well, where good conduct is the only passport necessary to social recognition, the men are too manly to submit to the tyranny of a petty party boss.

The men who have permitted the Dictator to lead them up to his altar of political sacrifice are not to be pitied. Men who are willing to lead a forlorn hope and put up the cash that another man may possibly profit will not receive much sympathy from thoughtful people. However, they will be wiser and sadder men when the finish comes. The Dictator's political doom is written. All the money he can wring from the guileless county candidates will not save him. Nevertheless, it will be interesting to watch the amount of fleece that is shorn from the county sheep.

"Me Too" Kash will likewise retire from public life with his chief.
—Breathitt County News.

A CARD.

As I am the nominee of the Democratic party for County Judge of Wolfe county, I will give to the voters some idea of some things I am in favor of.

If elected, I will do all in my power, with the help and co-operation of the County Attorney and the help of the citizens, to break up the illegal selling of liquor and "bootlegging" in our county, for if we take liquor into our courts of justice, Justice will either get drunk or get bribed.

He who would eat must first crack the shell. I have not tasted of liquor in ten years.

There is a crying need of reform in Wolfe county in the way of taxation. The voter ought now to think for himself and his interests and select the one most available and best qualified to represent him as his chief magistrate to do the work. In my opinion county affairs should be conducted on the same principle and by the same methods that control private enterprises and that the same devotion to public service is required of the officers of the county as is usually expected in the conduct of private affairs.

The financial conditions of our county are such that they demand at the hands of all officers the first and greatest consideration. The current expenses of the county must be met, but should be reduced to the lowest point consistent with efficient government. Taxes should be made as light as is consistent with all due and proper demands upon the county in the interest of the health, reasonable comfort and convenience of the poor and the protection of all public interests; and if elected, I will give to the county of Wolfe as good, clean and inexpensive government as is consistent, without respect to party affiliations.

And as for the improvement of the county roads, I will see that the roads are good roads for the public travel in said county, for bad roads are a poor investment for any community. Practically every individual in communities where the roads have been improved has been benefited in one way or another. Following the improvement of roads, all kinds of property, both town and country, takes on an increased value. Market conditions in general are improved, and a market for perishable farm products is made as outlined above, and at the same time social conditions are vastly improved.

I have served the people of Wolfe county in an official capacity for sixteen years as justice of the peace. That I did all in my power to reduce their taxes and had the pleasure of seeing their taxes lower than ever before or since, is a matter of record. I am more anxious to be elected than ever before. I can't believe that the voters of Wolfe county will elect a man for County Judge who has never had any experience in county affairs, solely on account of the use of his great amount of money; but I believe you will do the right thing for the love of your homes and families, and you can not afford to let party prejudice stand in the way of doing the right thing. Now is the time to act. Elect men to office who you know will treat you right and are qualified and will get your county out of debt, which, if I am elected, will be done, and I will consider it to be the greatest act of my life to do this for Wolfe county.

Yours for success, W. B. DUFF.

Bad Habits of the Country.
The grasshopper chews tobacco,
The quail gets out his pipe;
The fishhawk is so awful poor
He has to hunt a "snipe."
The rooster has his cocktail,
The orchard gets plum full,
The onion squanders every scent,
And the radish has a pull.

Easy to Settle It.

Washington, Sept. 9.—According to the view of scientists in Washington, the settlement of the question of the prior discovery of the North Pole between Cook and Peary cannot be long delayed. Their opinion is almost unanimous that when the data presented by each is examined it will clearly remove any doubt.

Prof. Andrew Braid, the assistant superintendent in charge of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, was asked: "Is there any way in which a scientist thoroughly familiar with Arctic conditions could take data which would stand the test of scientists?"

"It is perhaps not impossible," he replied, "but it is almost out of the question that there could be successful imposture."

One of Dr. Cook's friends said last night that he believed there was no doubt that Cook would be able to sustain himself.

"It is only in the event that the doctor has lost his mental poise through worry and constant exposure that he would fail to prove his claim at the proper time," he added.

Indeed, the origination of such an astounding fable as Peary charges Cook with is well-nigh incredible. With certain exposure staring him in the face it is unbelievable that Cook for a few days' glory would make of himself the world's most scorned individual.

Dr. Cook's supporters claim that Peary is crushed by being beaten to the pole, that for thirty years he has thought of nothing else but reaching the goal, and now that the prize is snatched from his hand just at the moment of success, he is the victim of the most bitter disappointment.

The attitude of naval circles and exploration societies against Cook is easily explained. The navy loves its own too well to surrender to a civilian the credit before anything short of the most convincing proof. Most of the geographic societies contributed toward the Peary expedition and naturally wished for its success.

Dr. Cook's supporters are claiming that Peary's "I have named the Stars and Stripes to the pole" will prove as disastrous to him as Sampson's famous Fourth of July message presenting to the nation through the fleet under "my command" the Santiago victory of Admiral Schley.

Thousands Have Kidney

Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

What Love Is.

The man who has never read the works of Robert G. Ingersoll has missed one of the greatest intellectual feasts in the literature of the world.

The following is his definition of "Love":

"Love is the only bow on life's dark cloud. It is the morning and evening star. It shines on the babe, and sheds its radiance on the quiet tomb. It is the mother of art, inspirer of poet, patriot and philosopher. It is the air and light of every heart; builder of every home; kindler of every fire on the hearth; it was the first dress of immortality. It fills the world with melody, for music is the voice of love. Love is the magician, the enchantment that changes worthless things to joy and makes right royal kings and queens of common clay. It is the perfume of that wonderful flower, the heart, and without that sacred passion, that divine swoon, we are less than beasts; but with it—certainly is heaven and we are gods."

The Wolfe County Sunday School Convention.

The Wolfe county Sunday school convention was held at the Bethel church last Sunday, September 12, and to say it was full of enthusiasm and an encouraging success would put it too lightly.

All the speakers for the day were present and a large crowd to greet us. After a few songs by the choir, with Miss Sarah Sample as organist, we had a hearty, welcome address from Mrs. Agar, responded to by Elmer Barker. Our president, H. H. Swango, then gave us a stirring, opening address on "Interests That Call for Conventions," which was very instructive and inspiring. Bro. Paul Derthick then pointed out very distinctly "How to Reach the Out-Way Districts," and while our minds were still revolving plans as to that work, we were called to see another picture, that of "Christless Homes of Sunday School Pupils," impressively portrayed by J. W. Taulbee. Let us heed the Master's command and so "Feed His Lambs" that the future will know any Christless home.

A good dinner with plenty of watermelon prepared us for full enjoyment of the afternoon session, which was opened with songs led by Howard Fulks and music by Mrs. Carter. Our hearts were made glad as we listened to such glowing reports from 18 or 20 schools in our county. The "Obstacles to Overcome in Mountain Sunday Schools" were vividly presented to us in such a practical way as to inspire the citizens of our county to aid the Sunday school army in overcoming these obstacles. Finances were briefly discussed by R. H. Patton and Bro. Derthick. A history of "The Bible, Our Supreme Authority," was warmly given by Prof. M. O. Carter. All admired the eloquent way that B. Stamper unfolded enthusiastic "Plans to Quickened the Interest of Sunday Schools," so much so that I think they will be adopted by the workers. Bro. Agar brought the session quickly to a close with a short talk on "Relation of the Sunday School to Sabbath Observance." The committee on nomination elected the following officers for county work next year: H. H. Swango, president; M. O. Carter, secretary, and qualified vice president for each magisterial district. The committee on resolutions formed some ideals which if followed will make Wolfe county a banner county, and we think that spirit was carried away with a great many. Truly, it was a grand occasion and long to be remembered. A Co-Worker.

Farmers' Institute.

Wolfe county farmers' institute will be held in Hazel Green next Monday and Tuesday, September 20 and 21. Prominent agricultural lecturers will be here to instruct our farmers and all who attend as to the best methods of making the farm pay. Live stock, raising and care of cereals, fruits, etc., will be thoroughly discussed, and every progressive farmer and stock raiser in this section should be present and take part in the proceedings. These institutes are arranged under the state board of agriculture and the best advocates of high-class farming will be present to lecture on the various phases of how to make the farm pay.

Granny Combs, who recently moved from the Consolation neighborhood to Pine Ridge, in Wolfe county, had the misfortune some ten days since to lose by fire every thing in the world she possessed. She is quite an old lady and has had a struggle to raise the children of her daughter, Mrs. George Coddiron, none of whom have reciprocated to any great extent. She is therefore left in destitute circumstances and appeals to Christian people for aid.

Several new pupils are in attendance at this term of the academy and the outlook is very promising. The new principal is a very popular gentleman, and will doubtless add many students to the enrollments.

A communication from W. J. Lampton replying to an article signed by Francis B. Livesay, Clarkson, Md., agent the Mountaineers, is unavoidably crowded out this week, but will appear in our next issue.

Mr. and Mrs. Boone Bache, of Burkhardt, the newly established postoffice in Morgan county, visited Mrs. Bache's brother, B. F. Elam, and family Saturday night. Mr. Bache is contemplating moving to this place in the near future.

Butler Cox, a local political light of Campton, accompanied by his friend, James Horton, was a guest of the Day House Monday night. His, or their, movements had a mysterious look to some of our citizens, and they are guessing at what their visit means.

Sam Wheeler and another man passed through here Tuesday with 180 head of first-class feeder cattle, some of them Hereford, which were bought mostly in Russell and Tazewell counties, Virginia. They had been eight days on the road and were looking well when they passed.

Sorghum making now seems to be the chief industry among our farmers and soon the sweets will float galore.

The youngest son of Col. Tom Johnson, of Tallega, was in town Monday and told "Our Man About Town" that his father was waging the most aggressive campaign ever known in the mountains. He is still here having matriculated at Hazel Green Academy. Col. Johnson believes in printers' ink and is using it liberally.

There will be an ice cream supper at the Johnson school house, on Lacy creek, Saturday night, the 18th. Everybody is cordially invited to come and take part, as a nice time is expected. The proceeds will go for the benefit of the church. Every boy and girl, man and woman want and will help in this work.

John T. Crain, of Maytown, was in to see us Tuesday and made the household and office force happy by presenting them with some of the fruit that caused original sin. Mother Eve is said to have ate one, and if they were as tempting as those Mr. Crain brought us, Adam could hardly withstand the temptation. The original in the first garden were pippins, and the ones we received were a very fine sample of the same.

Jordan Wills, one of our oldest and most respected citizens, who has been suffering with bladder trouble for months past, for the last two months has been confined to his home with chronic diarrhoea and owing to his age, 78 past, his relatives and friends are very anxious and uneasy about him, and several are taking turn in sitting up with him. He is himself hopeful and his closest relatives and friends believe he will pull thru.

J. G. Trimble, of Mt. Sterling, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. J. T. Day, and in a talk with the editor of this paper told of many things in the history of Hazel Green which would be very interesting to most of our readers. Indeed, if we can get him to give his lifetime at Hazel Green we shall publish it for the benefit of our readers, as it is history that would otherwise be lost to the present and coming generations.

KENTUCKY KERNELS

Carefully Collated and Concisely Chronicled.

Dr. Morton P. Scott, a prominent physician of Estill county, died last week aged 84 years.

Beginning with next Monday, the 20th inst., the Court of Appeals will begin holding its sessions in the new capitol building.

Mrs. J. R. Broadhurst, of Winchester, was painfully burned about the hands and face by the explosion of a can of fruit she was putting up.

At Decoy, Knott county, Ben Stacy shot and killed Floyd Shepherd and then shot himself, both dying instantly. The reported cause was jealousy.

The city of Maysville has filed suit against the Burley Tobacco society for $2,000 for back taxes on the 1906 and 1907 pooled crops of tobacco.

While burning brush on the farm of Mrs. W. A. Van Dyke, in Spencer county, fire got out of bounds and burned over a 60-acre pasture and destroyed about 250 panels of fence.

John Howard, a private in the Pineville militia company, is now the champion shot of Kentucky, having made perfect score at 500 yards, piercing the bull's eye eleven times in succession.

James Wall, charged with killing his brother, John, at their home near Lewisburg, in Mason county, last December, was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

Public school teachers must be a scarce article in Mason county when the city of Maysville was compelled to select them from Michigan, besides several neighboring counties, to fill the quota for their schools.

Ben S. Washer, formerly managing editor of the Louisville Herald, who gave up his journalistic work in Louisville to take up active practice at the bar, was complimented by Judge McGee with a temporary appointment as prosecuting attorney.

Should any baseball club in the state attempt to beat the club of Bagdad they are sure to be defeated as seven out of the nine players are named Moore, and this should be enough to show to all clubs they can make Moore runs than any other.

It is a well known fact that money usually controls elections and if this be a fact the Democrats of Fleming county are sure to win this fall. They have nominated Hon. E. M. Money at the head of their ticket as candidate for county judge.

Rev. Zephaniah Meek, D. D., aged 86 years, died, September 4, at his home in Catlettsburg, after a brief illness. He was well known throughout the Methodist Episcopal church, south, having been the founder and for twenty-five years editor of the Central Methodist.

Joe Bryan, of Pulaski county, was determined to make a sure thing of it last week when he committed suicide. He climbed a tree and tied a rope around his neck, sat on a limb and shot himself in the head. He fell from the limb from the effects of the shot and the dead body was found hanging from the limb.

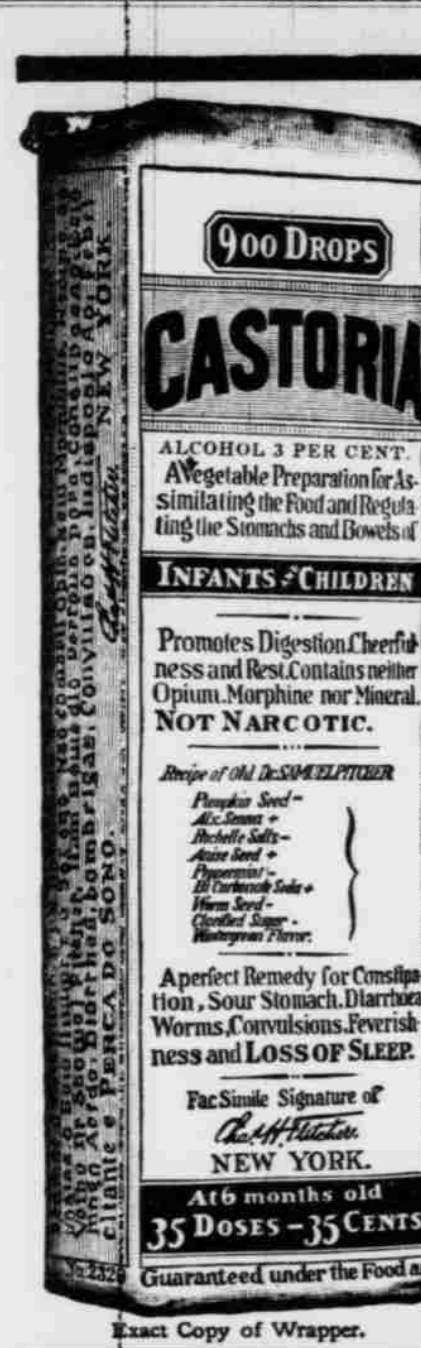

The principal questions before the National Association of Druggists, in session at Louisville, seem to be the closing of all drug stores at 5 o'clock p. m. and the abolition of cut-rate drug stores. Should these resolutions pass and be put into effect, how many people would suffer from the inability to obtain emergency medicines is incalculable.

O. R. King, a Lexington jeweler, in company with several other people, was walking from Oil Springs to Pilot Knob and while gathering wild flowers was bitten on the thumb by a copperhead snake. The reptile was immediately killed, and Mr. King sucked the poison from the wound, mentally applying the Christian Science cure, and says the wound is healing rapidly.

Kentucky must have produced some fine fruit after all, this season, says the Winchester Democrat. A number of our exchanges mention apples that weigh over a pound, and big peaches are so numerous they are not worth mentioning. In the vegetable line sweet potatoes are reported that weigh from three to nine pounds, seventy-pound pumpkins are frequently met with, and a Fleming county woman boasts of raising a beet that weighs fourteen pounds. All in all, Kentucky is a mighty good place in which to live.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by all dealers.

For Sale—A Victor graphophone with 36 records; will be sold for less than the cost of the records. Apply at this office.

The Best Known Newspaper in the United States.

CIRCULATION, - - - 200,000

Popular in Every State.

The seventy-fourth year of its existence finds the Toledo Blade more popular than at any period of its remarkable career. It is now read each week by more than a million people. Its field is not circumscribed by State boundaries, but involves the length and breadth of the United States, giving it an unquestionable right of claiming to be the greatest national weekly newspaper in the country.

The Weekly Blade is distinctly a family newspaper. The one object of its publishers has always been to make it fit for the American home, for the fireside, and of interest to every member of the family. To fulfill this purpose it is kept clean and wholesome. The news of the world is handled in a comprehensive manner, and the various departments of The Blade are edited with painstaking care. The Household page is a delight to the women and children; current affairs are treated editorially without prejudice; the serial stories are selected with the idea of pleasing the greatest number of fiction lovers; the Question Bureau is a scrapbook of information; the Farmstead columns are conducted with the purpose of giving the patron a medium for the exchange of ideas and information on farm topics. No department is neglected, but every feature is taken care of with the idea of making The Blade worth many times the price of subscription—one dollar a year. Sample copies mailed free. Address,

PREVENTION OF TYPHOID FEVER.

Circular issued by the State Board of Health of Kentucky.

To the Health Officials, Physicians and People of Kentucky:

This board feels it to be a duty to again call the earnest attention of our health authorities and people to the increasing prevalence and mortality from typhoid fever and to the consequent growing importance of the constant use of the methods endorsed and confirmed by scientific research and observation for the prevention of the disease. An average of 13,305 cases of this disease and 1,579 deaths are reported in Kentucky every year, chiefly confined to people in the prime of life and usefulness. The cost of caring for those sick of it, to say nothing of the sorrow, suffering and loss of life, for the year, is reported as being $963,750. At the very low estimate of $2,500 for each life lost the actual money value of those dying was $3,947,500. If to this be added the cost of caring for the sick it gives a total loss to the people of Kentucky from this one disease in an average year of $4,912,250.

Typhoid fever is probably the most preventable of all diseases, not even excepting smallpox. It is now definitely known that, like cholera and dysentery, the germs of the disease are contained only in the discharges from the bowels and kidneys of those sick of it, and that it is necessary for a person to swallow some of such discharges, or things polluted by them, in some way, in order to contract the disease. They usually gain entrance to the system through infected water from wells or streams draining inhabited areas, and polluted by infected fecal matter, or, in small unsewered town and country districts especially, such matter may be carried by flies and deposited on the food, utensils and hands in unscreened kitchens and dining rooms. The germs may also be carried on the hands of careless attendants or on soiled clothing, or indirectly, by using milk or other articles of uncooked food or drink from cans and vessels washed in infected water. Ice from infected water is also dangerous, as it has been proven that freezing does not kill the germs. A large volume of water may be infected from one case, and, if already polluted with organic matter, become a ready culture fluid for the multiplication of the germs. In the now noted epidemic at Plymouth, Pennsylvania, involving the sickness of 1,104 persons, and the death of 114, the outbreak was traced to the use of water from a stream infected by the discharges from one imported case. The recent disastrous epidemics at Ithaca, New York, causing many deaths, and requiring the suspension of Cornell University, and at Georgetown in our own state where a similar policy was pursued with the excellent college there, were traced to the use of a public water supply similarly infected.

On the other hand, in the distressing and fatal epidemic which clung to our military camps at Chickamauga, Mead, Montauk Point, and other places, during the Spanish-American war, flies were found to be the principal carriers of the disease by the United States Commission appointed to investigate the origin of the outbreaks. By the use of white powder sprinkled over the discharges in the latrines, thousands of these pests were tracked direct from these and found covering the food, hands and utensils in the kitchens and mess rooms of the common soldiers. Cultures taken from the feet, legs, bills and intestines of these flies showed the germs of typhoid fever in countless numbers. The kitchens and mess rooms of the officers were screened, and they almost uniformly escaped the disease. Other facts no less convincing as to both water and flies being carriers of this disease might be multiplied indefinitely, if space permitted. In a smaller way, they must be common in the experience of most physicians in active practice.

Based upon the teachings of the foregoing facts, the following rules have been prepared with care for the guidance of all persons interested in their own and the public health:

1. When it is known or suspected that a person has typhoid fever, he should be placed in a large, well ventilated room, with the windows and doors well screened, and such preparation should be made from the first day for the thorough and systematic disinfection of all discharges from the bowels and kidneys as will protect other members of the family, the attendants, and the community.
2. A solution of chloride of lime, eight ounces to the gallon of water, should be provided in quantity, and a quart of this should be put in the bed-pan or vessel each time before it receives the discharges, and should be well stirred and allowed to stand in the vessel at least an hour before it is emptied. An equivalent solution of creolin, or a thick white-wash made from fresh quicklime may be used in the same way when the chloride of lime can not be obtained, but with these at least two hours will be required to complete the disinfection.

3. Soiled bed or body linen should remain in the chloride of lime solution for an hour, and may then be safely put in the family wash. Soiled paper or clothes used about the patient should be immediately burned. Attendants should wash the hands and lips frequently, and rinse the mouth always before eating. No one should partake of any food which has stood in the sick room. All of these precautions should be continued until the recovery is complete and until all diarrhea has ceased, and for several weeks with the urine.

4. Typhoid fever is not contagious in the sense commonly understood, and if the precautions above indicated are faithfully and intelligently carried out, a case may be treated in any family or community with perfect safety. If others have the disease, it will be because they were infected from the same source as the patient, or contracted it elsewhere. Essentially the same precautions should be observed in dysentery and all other diarrheal diseases, including summer complaint in children.

5. All well water, and unfiltered water from rivers draining inhabited areas, where typhoid fever and diarrheal diseases are likely to occur at any time, and milk stored in cans or vessels washed in such water, should be looked upon as suspicious, and should always be boiled before it is drunk by any one not immune from typhoid fever.

6. The windows and doors of all dwelling houses, and especially of the kitchen and dining room, should always be well screened, and the flies actually kept out. Unless this is done, a carelessly managed case of typhoid fever, or other diarrheal disease, even a mile or more away, may be a source of danger on account of flies. As mosquitoes are now known to be the carriers of malaria, the same precautions will protect from this poison also.

The universal and effectual practice of these precautions will require intelligent care and some expense, but would result in the practical disappearance of one of our most common and fatal domestic pestilences, which is not only a disgrace to our civilization, but an annual scourge and tax upon the people of Kentucky in comparison with which yellow fever and cholera plague and other exotic diseases, so feared by our people, sink into insignificance.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, O., by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists. Price, 75c a bottle.

Try to Spell These Words.

Some of you who think you are well up in spelling, just try to spell the words in this little sentence.

"It is agreeable to witness the unparalleled ecstasy of two harassed peddlers endeavoring to gauge the symmetry of two peeled pears with a pair of scissors."

Read it over to your friends and see how many of them can spell every word correctly. The sentence contains some of the real puzzlers of the spelling book.

A Hurry Up Call.

Quick! Mr. Druggist—Quick!—A box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve—Here's a quarter—For the love of Moses, hurry! Baby's burned himself, terribly—Johnnie cut his foot with the axe—Mamie's scalded—Pa can't walk from piles—Billie has boils—and my corns ache. She got it and soon cured all the family. It's the greatest healer on earth. Sold by all dealers.

When to Buy and When to Sell.

The farmer is the greatest man in the world to "bear" his own business. When cattle are down he says it will not pay to raise them and they will never be any better, and if there is any higher priced stock he breaks for that. By the time he buys it and raises some the price has gone to pieces. We seem to go in droves. We had a good hay crop last year and the price went down and the price of corn is high. The consequence is they have plowed up their meadows and planted them to corn. By the time they hammer the price of corn down to 25 cents per bushel, hay will be $20 a ton!

When horses were $25 per head they quit the business and said they would never be high any more like they used to be, but when any good horse is worth $200 they never consult statistics to see how many horses there are in the United States, but just go on raising all they can. If you should ask almost any farmer how many there are in the United States he would say, "I don't know." He does not seem to remember when they were $25 per head there were only 13,000,000 in the United States and now when they are $200 per head there are 20,000,000. Of course he thinks the business cannot be over done.

With good crops and good prices American farmers can overdo anything in the stock and farm product line. They do not seem to think when the other fellow is going out of any business, that it is a good time for them to go.

An old maxim is "to sell when the other man wants to buy and buy when the other man wants to sell." But the farmer is ever a "bull" or "bear" and he will not buy anything when it is as low as it can ever get. The quantity of a thing will finally rule the price and the farmer will do well who consults the statistics as to the amount produced and not what the price happens to be today.—Exchange.

What the Lord Had Done.

Bob Taylor was speaking in the Senate:—"Our country had been decimated by war, humiliated by reconstruction and weighed down by the highest tariff taxation this world has ever known, and we were in a bad plight. We were in the condition of the good old praying member of the church, who was afflicted all at once with every disease in the catalogue. He had rheumatism and apoplexy and curvature of the spine, and was finally stricken with paralysis; but after months of suffering he got better, and went shambling one evening to prayer meeting. The old preacher rose and said: 'Now, brethren, I want us to have a good time here, tonight. I want everyone of you to get up and tell what the Lord has done for you. There is Brother Jones, God bless him! He has been afflicted and hasn't been with us for several months. Brother Jones, get up and tell us what the Lord has done for you.' Bro. Jones arose and hobbled out in the aisle, and said: 'Well, Brethren, He's about run me.'"

Value In Figures.

The Federal Good Roads Department states that the direct saving to the farmers of this country from properly constructed roads would be $250,000,000 annually; that there would be a saving of over $10,000,000 in marketing the wheat crop alone; of over $12,000,000 in marketing the corn crop and of $5,000,000 in marketing the cotton crop. However great the money value of good roads may appear to be, it is not as important as the educational and social advantages to be derived therefrom by the residents of rural communities. As a rule, the farmers are more wide-awake to the necessity of good roads than the residents in the cities, as proper highways effect directly their comfort and prosperity. This is not a problem for a single locality, but concerns vitally the states and the nation.
